

August 2020

There's More Than One Way To Skin A Cat

By Nancy Freier & Sreper, Angel of the Great White Light

I am human complete with my unique set of character defects including that I don't always turn within first for answers to my dilemmas. Sometimes I stumble around in the dark for a while finding a way through the obstacle course that life on Earth has presented to me. I recently experienced a huge disappointment. A dream I had came crashing down and burned before my eyes. I thought that dream was finally going to manifest for real this time, and I let myself feel its reality and put a lot of energy into planning for it to unfold. But suddenly the rug was pulled out from under me and I was back at square one.

My bottom line is, "Everything happens for a very good reason," and those words came rushing into my awareness like a firetruck to a five-alarm fire. After a little while, like the Phoenix, my dream surprisingly rose from the ashes! It was still intact but with it came a revision.

Sreper got my attention with, "There's another way to make your dream a reality! Make a clear commitment and keep your eyes on the prize. Do not let any negative thought to the contrary enter the picture. Stay steadfast to your dream. Continually feed it your positive energy. Rise above the burned out house you've been in. Open your heart-mind to see the bigger picture, for there are others ways in which this dream can manifest. Allow it to fall from Heaven in a new design."

The angels gave me the image of a kaleidoscope. filled with broken pieces of colored glass and mirrors that form beautiful designs. Give it a shake and a new design appears equally as rich and beautiful as the one before. Shake the kaleidoscope again and another configuration appears.

"We say there are endless numbers of patterns in which your dreams can come into your reality. The Universe is not limited except for the boundaries you place on it in your imagination," Sreper said,

I took out my (inner) machete and cut through the underbrush of the persistent negative thoughts that were growing to the contrary of what I want in my life. This is the work of manifesting. Pull the negative thoughts forbidding your new reality from forming. Get them out by their roots and plant the seeds of possibility remaining unattached to how the Universe will deliver it."

Initially, I lost my way, but those pesky nagels (as I lovingly call the angels when I type too fast) urgently rushed in to turn me around. This time they sent a friend whom I admire for having gone through plenty of fires of her own. She called that very day with the rest of the answer to my prayer. She instructed me to write down what I want and to speak it out loud for the Universe to hear the clarity. "When you are clear, the steps toward your dream will be clear. Keep an open mind as to how it may unfold, for it will likely surprise you," she added.

We are creative beings having inherited the co-creative power from our Creator to have the life we are here to live. The angels remind, “Forgive yourself of all your shortcomings and mistaken beliefs and let them go. Your glorious and bountiful future is awaiting your arrival.”

Δ

Sidebar:

kaleidoscope [kuh-lahy-duh-skohp] noun

- an optical instrument in which bits of glass, held loosely at the end of a rotating tube, are shown in continually changing symmetrical forms by reflection in two or more mirrors set at angles to each other.
- a continually changing pattern of shapes and colors.
- a continually shifting pattern, scene, or the like: The 1920s were a kaleidoscope of fads and fashions.

